Kentucky Arts Council and Spencerian College Technology Workshop

REGISTRATION FORM

The Kentucky Arts Council is pleased to partner with Spencerian College, Lexington, on a series of technology workshops designed specifically for artist and arts organizations, beginning in January 2007 and running through June 2007.

For over a century, Spencerian College has helped fulfill the dreams of many ambitious students who believe a rewarding career is a worthwhile goal. Programs include degrees in Allied Health, Computer Graphic Design, Computer Aided Design Drafting (CADD), Computer Engineering Technology (CET) and Electrical Engineering Technology (EET).

Classes will be geared to working artists and individuals working in arts organizations who want to:

- Learn how to take quality digital photographs and upload them. Especially significant for those interested in applying to KASOL, the on-line grant application process of the Kentucky Arts Council, for adjudicated programs*.
- Hone their skills in order to prepare and/or manipulate professional photographs for use in shows or websites
- Learn about the terminology and mechanics of the development and maintenance of a website
- Learn about quality print requirements for marketing materials and communicating with commercial printers.

*Programs include: Arts Education Roster, the Fellowship Program, Kentucky Crafted, Performing Arts Directory and Visual Arts at the Market.

Class size is limited and Registration is required.

Cost: $10.00 per session* (Continental breakfast and lunch is included).
